

I email in response to the Civic Forum review questionnaire recently launched.

My personal views are very general and thus don't align with the questionnaire.

I personally feel that Northern Ireland should move towards the Social Partnership model in place in the Republic of Ireland. I have no strong opinion whether the forum remains but feel that a Social Partnership model needs to be introduced to allow effective engagement with Civic Society developing partnership based Programmes for Government based on the underlying principle that the NI Executive has democratic legitimacy.

Regards

Yours sincerely
